Notes
Medical Examination is defined as a verbal and physical examination by the GP lasting up to 30 mins only. Where additional procedures are requested that are not medically required from the findings of the initial medical examination, e.g. ECG, Spirometry, then these are charged for.
Additional Charges. Where due to the complexity of the patient’s medical records, forms, reports or letters greater time is required by the GP or supporting staff, then additional fees may be charged

Prices are subject to change without notice.

Please contact us for prices of any services not listed. Payment may be required prior to service being provided.

Where additional time is required to provide the requested service than is normally necessary, a further charge may be made at the GP, Nurse or HCA’s discretion at their normal rate of £45, £30 and £20 per 10 mins respectively.

Please allow up to 10 working days for basic reports to be produced by your GP. More detailed reports may take longer. You will be contacted when it is ready to collect.

FAQs – Why Do GPs Sometimes Charge Fees?

Isn’t the NHS supposed to be free?

The NHS provides most health care to most people free of charge, but there are exceptions: prescription charges have existed since 1951 and there are a number of other services for which fees are charged.

Sometimes the charge is made because the service is not covered by the NHS, for example, providing copies of health records or producing medical reports for insurance companies, and certain travel vaccinations.

Surely the doctor is being paid anyway?

GPs are not employed by the NHS; GP practices are independent businesses that are contracted to provide specific medical services by the NHS and other organisations such as county councils, and therefore have to cover their costs in the same way as any other small business – staff, buildings, heating etc. The NHS pays the Practice for NHS work only.

Why does it sometimes take my GP a long time to complete my form?

A GP's NHS work must take priority. Time spent completing forms and preparing reports takes the GP away from the medical care of their patients. Most GPs have a very heavy workload and paperwork takes up an increasing amount of their time.

I only need the doctor's signature – what is the problem?

When a doctor signs a certificate or completes a report, it is a condition of remaining on the Medical Register that they only sign what they know to be true. In order to complete even the simplest of forms, the doctor might have to check the patient's entire medical records.

Carelessness or an inaccurate report can have serious consequences for the doctor with the General Medical Council (the doctors' regulatory body) or even the Police.

What if I change my mind?

If a vaccination has been specifically purchased for you and you decide not to then have it, you remain liable for cost as published. If a report has been requested by you or a 3rd party on your behalf (e.g. Insurance) and you decide you no longer wish to proceed after the GP has started to complete it, then you (or the 3rd party) remain liable for the cost as published.
